

them, are more important than putting people back to work.

Here are some of the amendments they have filed: EPA water quality standards, lightbulbs, right-to-work laws, the estate tax, repeal of Wall Street reform, the United States-Mexico border fence. Yet, again, a handful of these amendments would delay or repeal health care reform. None of them are germane to the legislation before us.

My staff looked through all of these, and they found one arguably is germane, and that one is an amendment offered by Senator INHOFE which the chairman of the committee, BARBARA BOXER, agrees to. Again, they have amendments that would delay or repeal health care reform. It is a battle Republicans seem determined to fight over and over, no matter how many times they lose.

We have already voted on bank card swipe fees and ethanol subsidies, and we voted on the regulatory reform amendment offered once again by the senior Senator from Maine. Yet we could not reach agreement to consider this worthy bill.

This is not the first time Republicans have stopped the important work of job creation in its tracks. The small business innovation research bill died on the Senate floor because of amendments, none of which related to that bill. The Federal Aviation Administration reauthorization and patent reform bills, which would have put about a half million people to work, languish in the House. They are over there now someplace. Yet, still, unemployed Americans wait on this bill we are going to vote cloture on tomorrow—or try to.

The amendments are really hard to comprehend: the Consumer Financial Protection Agency, to do away with that; they repeal Dodd-Frank Wall Street reform, the Commission to Approve Oversight and Eliminate Wasteful Spending, debt instrument transparency, amend the NLRA with respect to States that have the right-to-work laws, national right to work, gainful employment regulation, termination of global climate change, permanently repeal the estate tax, substitute the Economic Development Administration, prohibit award and designation of funds to any area or entity named for a living Member of Congress, repeal position on withholding of certain payments made to vendors by government entities, extension of certain Outer Continental Shelf leases, removal of insurance moratorium for industrial banks, limit antitrust exemption, repeal Davis-Bacon wage requirements, prohibit printing of the CONGRESSIONAL RECORD, increase statutory limit of the public debt, enable States to opt out of health care reform.

Another one is, Stability Oversight and Council authority, inclusion of application to independent regulatory agencies, amend Unfunded Mandates Reform Act, border fence completion, major rules of the legislative branch shall have no force for approval as enacted into law, delay implementation of health care reform until final resolution in pending lawsuits, securities laws amendments, rescind $45 billion of unobligated discretionary appropriations, rescission of unobligated discretionary appropriation, reduce amounts authorized to be appropriated, prescribe fires in Flint Hills region, EPA water quality standard, repeal Bright Fields Demonstration Program, terminate global climate change mitigation.

Mr. President, these are amendments that go page after page. I have only mentioned a few of them. They have more than 90 of them. If there ever were an example of such a tremendous waste of the Senate's time and the indication that the Republicans don't care anything about the American people working—I guess their goal is to make things as bad as they can and, hopefully, the American people won't see through it, and maybe they will get somebody elected to replace President Obama. What other reason could there be?

People are desperate for jobs. The unemployed wait and wait. It would be different if they came here and offered amendments that had some relevance or germaneness to this legislation. But they don't.

Tomorrow, Republicans will get another chance to help us move forward on a bill that has a proven track record of putting people to work, for the amount of $1.2 billion, and the last 5 years we have created 314,000 jobs. Why? Because it is good for the private sector. For every dollar we invest, they invest $7. In the meantime, though, I urge my Republican colleagues to consider the cost of these delaying tactics.

KENTUCKY COAL MINERS

Mr. MCCONNELL. Mr. President, I would like to say a few words to acknowledge the three coal miners who are trapped in a coal mine near Middlesboro, KY. They were trapped there as a result of terrible storms and flooding in the southeastern part of my State. A number of different communities have been affected by the flooding, and a lot of people are working hard to help folks recover from power outages and mudslides. From what I understand, rescue efforts for the three miners are now underway, and the people on the ground are hopeful they will be able to rescue all three men, but we want them and their families to know we are all thinking of them as the rescue efforts continue.

This is a vitally important industry in the region, and in moments such as this it is appropriate that we acknowledge the danger people who work in the coal mines subject themselves to every single day. They are a courageous and dedicated group, and we are very grateful for their work.

I suggest the absence of a quorum.

The ACTING PRESIDENT pro tempore. The clerk will call the roll.

NOMINATION OF MICHAEL SIMON

Mr. WYDEN. Mr. President, tomorrow, the Senate will vote on the confirmation of Michael Simon to serve as U.S. District Court Judge for the District of Oregon. Michael Simon is a good and decent man. In my home State where we have a judicial emergency by the standards of Chief Justice Roberts, it is vitally important that Michael Simon be confirmed. To begin, I wish to thank Chairman LEAHY; ranking minority member GRASSLEY; the majority leader, Senator REID, and minority leader MCCONNELL for bringing this nomination to the floor today.

Senator MERKLEY and I have been proud to put forward Mr. Simon's name for consideration by the President. We were enthused by his subsequent nomination, and we are now hopeful he will soon be able to continue his service to the people of Oregon in this new capacity.

Michael Simon is both a distinguished lawyer and a legal scholar with a diverse and impressive legal career. That career includes work as a public servant, as a litigator, a pro tempore judge, and as a professor. Michael Simon now is a partner at the firm of Perkins Coie in Portland, and he has worked there since 1986. After graduating summa cum laude from UCLA, Mr. Simon attended Harvard Law School where he again graduated with honors cum laude.
